

REVEL WINE

AUTUMN 2023

Revel Wine represents a new generation of farmers, cider makers, winegrowers, and winemakers, many of whom work with natural, organic, or biodynamic practices in their vineyards and farms, and rely on spontaneous fermentations with wild yeasts. These are the things that we love to drink, that lead us to consider the soils where the fruit are grown, the honesty and sense of transparency with which they're made and, most importantly, their place at the table.

The distributed portfolio from Revel Wine is proud to be a member of 1% For The Planet, an organization of businesses who give one percent of their gross sales back to the environment.

Corollary Wines // OREGON

Dan Diephouse and Jeanne Feldkamp are Corollary. They seek out marginal sites in Oregon that are especially suited to make sparkling wine. Through their cooler climates and slower ripening, these vineyards create more delicate wines of outstanding quality. They work with gifted growers and farmers who are committed to farming sustainably—whether organically, biodynamically, or LIVE certified. All their vineyards are herbicide free. All their wines age a minimum of six months in barrel and 30 months on the lees.

Domaine Magdalena // WASHINGTON (Demeter certified estate vineyard)

In 2005 Maggie Hedges planted four acres of Cabernet Sauvignon in the Red Mountain AVA. Shortly thereafter they built their home on the same piece of land. The focus has always been on organic farming and in 2011 they became Demeter-certified Biodynamic. The first vintage of wine was made in 2014 and here we present the culmination of over 10 years of work and love.

Es Okay

Mike Lucia of Rootdown Wine Cellars created a second label to help growers find a home for their unsold fruit. Jokingly, the brand became Es Okay because at the end of the day, we know it's going to be, OK. Es Okay is designed to brighten your moment by over delivering on quality, while not denting your wallet. Each year they will make one white and one red that's better than "OK".

Fine Disregard Wine Co.

Fine Disregard Wine Co. is a two person effort committed to producing wines of transparency and authenticity. Forlorn Hope Wines

Matthew Rorick believes strongly that site and farming produce all that they should like to find in a bottle of wine. He doesn't want to muddy the story, by adding water, yeast, acid or enzymes, that had nothing to do with what the vines put into each of the clusters.

Iruai		1cs	3cs	5cs
Started in 2013 by our own Chad Hinds, striving to find a voice for California Cabernet Franc and Chenin Blanc. In the Spring of 2018 he began planting a vineyard in the California Alps of Siskiyou County, using the permaculture methods laid out by Fukuoka. In the spirit of this new project he has begun experimenting with wine styles and varieties originating in the Alps of Europe. The wines seek to channel a sense of place with the goal of showcasing California's diversity.

La Garagista // VERMONT

"Ms. Heekin's wines are not intended to be complex works of art. They are direct and fresh, rooted in the notion that wine is food and belongs on the table, like bread or fruit." - Eric Asimov Three vineyards based on clay and limestone on Mt. loop de loop wines

High-altitude wines created by Julia Bailey Gulstine and Scott Gulstine. Their winery and vineyard are on an extinct shield volcano on the edge of the Cascade Mountain Range (Underwood Mountain) just over an hour from Portland. They make vintage specific wines that speak of the places they are grown – and these are some very special sites. Their own 9 acre Light Anthology vineyard is planted at 1250' in elevation, with volcanic, ashy-sandy loam soil on a 33° slope facing Southeast.

Pray/Tell Wines // OREGON

When Tom Caruso was a kid, he helped his grandfather make wine on a city sidewalk in Philadelphia; ironically on the corner of Oregon Avenue. They would source grapes from local farms and use a small hand crank destemmer and basket press (which he still has to this day). In adulthood, try as he might to find another career path, the inevitable reality sunk in when a few years into a job as a book editor in New York City, he decided to drop everything and focus on wine. From New York to Sonoma to the Willamette Valley, Tom has spent years working with some amazing winemakers, farmers, and mentors.

Sandlands

Sandlands is the personal project of Tegan Passalacqua. The line-up encompasses the forgotten classic California varieties, primarily grown in decomposed granite (sand), from regions and vineyards that have been farmed for many generations but have remained the outliers of California viticulture. Primarily head-trained, dry-farmed, and own rooted, the vineyards we work with harken back to California's roots of exploration, wonder, and hard work.

Scar of the Sea

Scar of the Sea are Mikey and Gina Giugni, out of San Luis Obispo, California. The ocean's presence has shaped their way of life along with the climate, soils, and geology of the vineyards in their region that fall under the spell of her fog each day. They focus on working with farmers who are instrumental in farming for the future and making wines with as little intervention as possible. Their wines are made with the intention to tell a story of where they come from, the people who farm them, and reflect each vintage under the California sun.

Slamdance Koöperatieve Wines

Slamdance is Daniel Callan, a young, ambitious winemaker who is intent on bringing historical identity back to Paso Robles. A native of Virginia, his passion for wine and history started while working part time at Sunset Hills Winery as a student at George Mason. Here Daniel found his calling for winemaking and a pull to learn more about the history of American winemaking and historical vine material. This led to harvests in Australia, New Zealand, California, and South Africa. It was South Africa that truly shaped Daniel's desire to make classically-styled wines with minimal intervention.

Strade Bianche Wines // ITALY

Strade Bianche Wines is run by three friends. Jeremy and Bobby go all way back to the playground at Byrom elementary school. Andrea and Bobby became friends while he was living in Montepulciano. The company was formed organically around friendship and a shared passion for high-quality small production Italian wine.

While they strongly believe in organic or biodynamic farming, and wine produced without manipulation or additives in the cellar, to them the deeper connection is the story each wine tells. It is the story of the real people who passionate produce it, it is the story of that vintages weather, it is a story of the soil, land, and grape varieties that thrived in that small patch of land for centuries.

Selection Massale

The goal at Selection Massale is to import the best natural wines, period. They do not work in every region or try to fulfill every need, but rather bring what they believe to be the most exciting, precise, well-made natural wines available. Their selections come from small wineries. Their vigneron work the land organically for the most part, biodynamically for some. All the wines are fermented naturally and made without cellar trickery or makeup. They favor clean, highly drinkable wines. They want their wines to be the first bottles emptied at the dinner table, but the longest remembered.

Pianora, founded in 1986, is located on Montorfano, a hill of tectonic origin that marks the southern border of Franciacorta, characterized by the presence of the only steeply sloping terraced vineyards of this wine area. The vineyard is made up of 2 hectares in all, of which 1.5 are organically farmed vineyards and the remaining land dedicated orchard and grove crops to promote biodiversity. The ancient terraces are located at 280 meters above sea level; they are very steep (slope approx. 50%), and with an excellent southern exposure. The base wine is a blend of Cabernet Sauvignon and Merlot, which is enriched with slow infusions of herbs and spices.

Scar of the Sea

Scar of the Sea are Mikey and Gina Giugni, out of San Luis Obispo, California. The ocean's presence has shaped their way of life along with the climate, soils, and geology of the vineyards in their region that fall under the spell of her fog each day. They focus on working with farmers who are instrumental in farming for the future and making wines with as little intervention as possible. Their wines are made with the intention to tell a story of where they come from, the people who farm them, and reflect each vintage under the California sun.

WINES WE BROKER

All of the following producers are represented by us but we do not own the wines. This means that there are separate shipping minimums and discount structures for each producer. There are a few “families” where several “brands” are made by one producer. We have listed those wines together for ease of locating them.

Please note that we do work with several warehouses and there are instances where some wines do not combine for shipping. Those are pointed out alongside the producer’s name in the book.

Farm Cottage Wines

Ryan Alfaro grew up on his parents' vineyard in the Santa Cruz Mountains. Being immersed in the family business his entire life, it was no surprise he developed a passion for wine. Ryan enrolled at UCLA to study Environmental Studies and Geography. In the midst of his undergrad education, he was able to study abroad in Dijon, France through UC Davis' Viticulture and Enology program. Upon finishing his undergrad studies at UCLA, Ryan decided to further his education at University of Auckland, New Zealand, completing a Post-Grad in Wine Science. He was privileged to work under renowned winemaker Adam Tolmach for a vintage before returning home to become head-winemaker at Alfaro Family Vineyards. While honing his skills at Alfaro Family Vineyards, Ryan decided to create his own label, Farm Cottage Wines.

Seabold Cellars

Seabold Cellars was established in the Monterey Bay region because they believe that cool-climate organic and sustainable vineyards produce balanced wines that showcase their origin more than their winemaking. During the year, more time is spent in vineyards than the winery. They produce non-interventionist, site-specific Burgundy and Rhône varieties, as seen through a California lens.

Sky Vineyards

Sky Vineyards is a 14 acre vineyard and small family winery nestled between the crown of Mt. Veeder and the expansive sky. Planted at an elevation of 2100' and on the eastern-facing hillside, the Zinfandel and Syrah grapevines ripen under full sun and fog-cooled evenings into intense berries. The reddish volcanic soil and unique physical characteristics of Sky produce a unique wine that reflects where it was grown and the care and attention it receives at every step of the process.

Ulloa Cellars

Nancy Ulloa is Ulloa Cellars. After moving to California from Guadalajara at the age of 12 Nancy moved to Paso Robles from the Bay Area in 2017 with the burning desire to learn the art of winemaking. For the last few years, she has gained an invaluable amount of knowledge from various respected winemakers/mentors who have eagerly welcomed her to this community. Fast forward 6 years, we are happy to team up with her for the release of her fourth vintage of Grüner Veltliner.

VESO Aperitifs

VESO is breaking the mold of old-world aperitifs, and innovating on them at their winery in San Francisco. Their wine-based aperitifs are infused with fruit, spices and botanicals, resulting in approachable aperitifs that are delicious and sippable on their own (never syrupy or cloying), but complex enough to be mixed into spritzes or cocktails. Veso doesn't hide behind "secret recipes" and are fully transparent about their ingredients and where they come from. They never use "natural flavors" or dyes, instead preferring to use the real, raw ingredients to impart all of the flavors they seek - and their labels includes all the ingredients they use.

Domaine de la Damase (BIO certified estate vineyards)

1cs 3cs 5cs

Domaine de la Damase is a small estate, 12 ha, organically farmed and has been in conversion into agriculture biologique since 2011. They might have remained obscure to Americans, at least, if it weren't for Kenny Likitprakong of Hobo Wine Company who befriended the Latour family and imports some of their wines.

Selection Massale

The goal at Selection Massale is to import the best natural wines, period. They do not work in every region or try to fulfill every need, but rather bring what they believe to be the most exciting, precise, well-made natural wines available. Their selections come from small wineries. Their vigneronns work the land organically for the most part, biodynamically for some. All the wines are fermented naturally and made without cellar trickery or makeup. They favor clean, highly drinkable wines. They want their wines to be the first bottles emptied at the dinner table, but the longest remembered.

Licores Corderos, Surales Ecuador

1cs 2cs solid

Surales is a small hamlet in southern Ecuador, situated at approximately 4,000' in the mountains between Guayaquil and Cuenca. Remigio Cordero began his long career in the art of distillation at the age of 14. Now in his 80s, he is joined by his grandson, Ismael Cordero, on the family's organic estate. Caña Blanc is the name of the sugarcane variety farmed in this region, and this is what the family uses to make their Puro, the local name for unaged white rum. It is harvested by hand, crushed, fermented with native yeasts, and double distilled in a hand-built pot still. It is bottled at full proof.

Distillerie Patrick St. Surin Clairin Milot, Carrefour des Pères, Haiti

1cs 2cs solid

We are proud to introduce Patrick St. Surin who is making Clairin (the traditional rum of Haiti) in the most traditional way possible: harvesting his own sugarcane or using sugarcane syrup made in-house, native yeast fermentations, and distilling in small, alembic stills, the style of which have been in use since the 1500s. In essence, these spirits express the raw, natural beauty of Haiti — terroir, if you will — in the visceral way.
